

It is important for to for our country not to consolidate further the voice of our media. I feel the FCC has listened carefully to the wishes of broadcast media, as they should. But there has not been equal consideration to the public and private professionals who understand that these changes damage our ability to receive information and have public dialogue. What happened to the concept of "public airwaves"? Do not make these changes to FCC rules.